

E3166
Material Safety Data Sheets
in the Laboratory

Leader's Guide

QUIZ

"MATERIAL SAFETY DATA SHEETS IN THE LABORATORY"

Name: _____

Date: _____

1. Which of the following information about a chemical can be found on an MSDS?
 Ingredients.
 Health hazards
 Spill/leak information.
 All of the above.
2. Which of the following types of chemicals are considered to be health hazards?
 Toxins.
 Corrosives.
 Sensitizers.
 All of the above.
3. True or False... An MSDS must list a substance's hazardous ingredients if they compose more than one percent of the total?
 True
 False
4. True or False... "Vapor density" is a type of physical data contained on an MSDS?
 True
 False
5. True or False... A substance's "flashpoint" is the temperature at which it will explode?
 True
 False
6. True or False... Information about how a chemical reacts under high pressure can be found in the "Reactivity" section of an MSDS?
 True
 False
7. True or False... Water is considered the "first line of defense" when chemicals come into contact with your skin?
 True
 False

QUIZ

"MATERIAL SAFETY DATA SHEETS IN THE LABORATORY"

PRESENTER'S COPY...WITH ANSWERS

1. Which of the following information about a chemical can be found on an MSDS?
 Ingredients.
 Health hazards.
 Spill/leak information.
 All of the above.
2. Which of the following types of chemicals are considered to be health hazards?
 Toxins.
 Corrosives.
 Sensitizers.
 All of the above.
3. True or False... An MSDS must list a substance's hazardous ingredients if they compose more than one percent of the total?
 True
 False
4. True or False... "Vapor density" is a type of physical data contained on an MSDS?
 True
 False
5. True or False...A substance's "flashpoint" is the temperature at which it will explode?
 True
 False
6. True or False... Information about how a chemical reacts under high pressure can be found in the "Reactivity" section of an MSDS?
 True
 False
7. True or False... Water is considered the "first line of defense" when chemicals come into contact with your skin?
 True
 False